JOHN SMITH STATES THREE OBJECTIONS TO PRESENT LOCATION OF BRIDGE

C of C Discusses Bridge Location History Was In The Making.

Observations.

By the Editor

It is quite interesting to note the increase in bank deposits of the Hancock and Merchants Bank and Trust Company since their last published statements. This we think, completely refutes the charges of the loss of business due to the removal of slot machines from Bay St. Louis and other places in the County. Anything to try to gain a point is the way the boys work, but facts and figures face them in this argument. The money which found its way into hidden coffers now finds its way into legitimate channels.

The pretty little girl from Kiln, Miss Fatsy Farris, who was declared winner of the Forestry Queen contest in the Southwestern District, failed to win all State honors, but we still think she is mighty pretty. We have had an inkling that further honors may be bestowed upon her of a state wide nature. Well, anyhow, we want to congratulate Pat and those whose financial support made her entry possible.

The League of Women Voters will hear Mrs. Errol Horner, of Washington, D. C., as guest speaker, at two meetings today. The meetings will be held at the Bay High School Auditorium. The public is invited to hear and meet Mrs. Horner. Invitations have been extended to all of the public officials of the county and municipalities to attend. Women are a strong influence for good in public affairs, and these ladies should be encouraged in their activities.

Our friend Jim Crump planted about fifty acres in rice this year, ten acres of which were planted in selected Zenith Seed; and he was amazed at his crop. He had one acre surveyed by Roland Weston; and this acre produced 1905 pounds of rice, which Jim had weighed and reweighed, in order to make sure that his eyes and the scales were not deceiving him. Jim is holding some of the seed and is offering an opportunity to the people of the county to purchase some. Rice may soon prove a profitable crop. By the way, talking about rice, Howard LeTissier had some folks some time back who were interested in rice growing in the county, but he got little support. Might be time to revive some interest.

Next week, God willing, we will publish our annual Coast Electric supplement. This year quite a novel arrangement has been worked out with our friend, Chance Cole, publisher of the Picaune Item, Picaune, Mississippi, in that we are publishing a joint edition of the supplement. Chance and your editor may disagree about some things, but when it comes to getting together for the good of our counties and the area we serve, we have a lot in common. We think this next issue will excel any special edition published so far by either paper. It will have a total coverage of 11,000 copies. Not to be sniffed at, particularly by our advertisers.

The site of the new bridge and REA day were the main topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at the REA building instead of Tuesday night as originally scheduled.

It was brought out at the meeting that John D. Smith, Highway Commissioner, has agreed to send to the Bay a new location crew of engineers to run another line on Uman avenue, which, it is hoped, will eliminate one of the undesirable features of the first survey. Mr. Smith has promised that he will be in Bay St. Louis at the start of the new survey to assist in overcoming some of the previous difficulties.

The Board of Directors voted to meet weekly, and to do everything in their power as an organization, and individuals, to keep the bridge in its present location on Highway 90.

The board also suggested that local merchants run special sales suited to their particular types of business to attract visitors on November 4, for REA Day. It is hoped that such sales will bring, at the very least 2500 visitors to Bay St. Louis for the Coast Electric Power Association's annual meeting.

Two Injured In Accident Friday

Ten people were taken to the Kings' Daughters hospital by Fahney's ambulance Friday, October 13, at 7:00 p. m. following a three-car accident on U. S. Highway 90, four miles west of Bay St. Louis, near the Pilot Wheel. Theresa Del Blanc, Santa Cruz, California, had turned her automobile left, off the Highway, into the Pilot Wheel; all but the back rear end of her car had cleared the Highway. Patrol assistant inspector J. J. Wittman, (CQ) and patrolman R. E. Blackwell, investigating officers, stated. A vehicle driven by Hilton J. Earl, Route 1, Picaune, struck the Del Blanc car on the right rear side; then, a third car, driven by Victor H. Ekberg, Bay St. Louis, struck the Earl River automobile. A Greyhound bus, driving along the Highway toward New Orleans, sideswiped the latter cars. Frances Del Blanc received head injury, cuts and bruises; and Mrs. Hilton J. Earl received lacerations of her left hand. The other eight were treated for shock and bruises and released from the hospital.

John D. Smith, highway commissioner, said, at a public meeting held in the Hancock County Courthouse Friday, October 13, that there were three objections to constructing the new proposed toll bridge across the Bay of St. Louis in its present location. Though he did not definitely commit himself as to where the structure would be finally located, he told those present that the objections to the present site are:

State Shore Protection Money Still Available

Colonel W. K. Wilson Jr., Mobile, District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, announced late today that his office had been advised that there was a possibility of funds in the amount of $300,000 for shore protection work previously authorized to protect the Harrison County Seawall, as still being available. The money had not been allotted to his office, the District Engineer explained, but had been earmarked for use in the event the President declared the work essential to National Defense. The President will make the determination at a later date. This would mean that if U. S. Highway No. 90 were declared essential to the defense of the country, that funds could be made available for the work originally planned.

Twirp Season Begins

Twirp season, girls must pay, will start Friday, October 20, at the Youth Center. A hobo party will be given at the Youth Center Saturday, October 21 for the members, the president announced. Twirp season will apply to this event.

The approaches to the bridge on the Henderson Point side form a sharp curve; the highway department does not build roads by schools - the Bay St. Louis High School is located on Highway 90; and the Bay St. Louis water tanks and fire station, along with several businesses would have to be moved should the road follow its present route along Uman avenue.

CAN CITY SPEND $75,000? "Is the City of Bay St. Louis able and willing to spend $75,000 to move these facilities?" Smith asked.

No definite commitments were made by Sidney T. Roebuck, chairman of the highway commission, as to the bridge's location.

"As far as we are concerned, personally, we have no choice as to the location of the bridge," Commissioner Smith said, "but we can give you engineering facts."

COST OF CONSTRUCTION

Highway department engineers, Smith said, have estimated that it would cost $8,113,448 to locate the new span at the same site of the present wooden storm and fire damaged structure. The northern route would cost approximately $7,600,061. This location would be about a half mile north of the present bridge.

A discussion followed on the point that at the present location on Uman avenue, the highway was level with the bridge, while on the northern route there would be a steep incline or drop.

This meeting was called by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; Howard LeTissier, president presided.

"No matter where the highway may go, it will not go unanimously because all people are not of the same opinion," Smith stated. "We can only put it where it will best serve the greatest number of people in Hancock and Harrison Counties."

Change Would Injure Industry

State Senator Cornelius J. Ladner said that a change in the route of the highway would injure a large number of industries in Bay St. Louis, particularly the praline business; he also said that property values in Bay St. Louis would decrease and the city would be the losers if there was any alteration in the route. Ladner is senator from Hancock, Pearl River and Lamar counties.

Smith and his assistants came to this meeting to hear what the people of Bay St. Louis had to say in regard to the proposed toll bridge and its location.

ONE OF MANY ANGLES

A mass meeting called by State Highway Commissioner John D. Smith to discuss the Bridge over the Bay of St. Louis, is now history. What was accomplished through this medium? NOTHING. It was to be expected. This meeting took the usual course. Discussions, questions, flaring of tempers, and the usual climax—No one the wiser, nor the question of interest solved.

The location of the bridge over the Bay of St. Louis is of vital importance to many people in our City. The change in the route of the highway through Bay St. Louis, will affect many people presently located thereon. Many of these people make their livelihood there. To move the highway to another location would, of course, prove detrimental to them.

The other suggested route has met much opposition from the people in this location, and from all indications it appears that there is for one time united front in Bay St. Louis. The people of this community, with few exceptions, do not want the highway changed.

Many people left the meeting with the thought that the location of the Highway was a cut and dried affair, and that this meeting was called for the purpose of applying a little salve to the wounds; many even charged the commissioner with using it for political purposes. We have not always agreed with John Smith, but we can certainly understand his position in this matter. We have convinced ourselves that John Smith actually wants to keep the highway in its present location. There are many angles which are constantly arising, particularly the right of way question, and it is to be hoped that this angle can be solved.

It was not necessary for the Commissioner to consult the people of Bay St. Louis as to the location of this bridge, and in all fairness to him, we must say that he kept his word to meet with them, probably to his political detriment.

We are always ready to carry the fight for an issue of importance to our people, and in the bridge matter we feel that we have blazed the trail. We have taken John Smith to task, and are ready to do it again if the occasion arises; nevertheless, at this time we feel he is doing his dead level best and is on our side. It is our conclusion that locating the new bridge at the present site is not a lost cause.

Pirates To Play Tonight October 20

The Pass Christian Pirates will be host to Perkinston High School football team tonight on Pass Christian's home field with the kick-off time scheduled for 8:00 P. M.

Coach Norman Hall has put his boys through drills and practice sessions this week in preparation for the coming tilt.

Last week Pass Christian's homecoming was spoiled by a victorious Long Beach who defeated the Pirates with a score of 19-0. In the first half of the game the Pirates held the Long Beach boys down but the last half saw the Pirates unable to stop the Bearcats winning touchdowns.

Tonight's game will be the fifth of the season for the Pirates. They have won one, lost two, and tied one. Perkinston High comes down to meet the Pirates as an undefeated team. Coach Harold White ordered a light workout with no contact for the Perkinston lads in their practice, because of the many injuries received in last Friday's game with Petal.

The Eagles have defeated Carriere, Poplarville, Bay St. Louis, Decatur and Petal and the Pirates are working hard this week to be ready to try to break the winning streak of the Eagles.

W. S. C. S. Holds Mission Meeting

March Of Dimes Committee Meets

Ed Sterberg, of the Gulfport Lions Club, who is the West Harrison chairman of the 1950 March of Dimes Campaign, called a special meeting of officers and committee members Thursday evening, October 12, at the Markham Hotel in Gulfport.

Harry Clarke, of Gulfport, is vice-chairman of the drive, with Walter Stewart, Gulfport, treasurer; Miss Paye Statton, Gulfport, secretary, and W. B. Roberts, Gulfport, auditor. The following executive committee appointments were announced: L. B. Letcher, Mrs. Gladys B. Legg, Jack Barrett, R. H. Hamilton, Eddie Vann, R. H. Hardy, R. M. Riemann, Dana King, Tom Rand, Don Sheppard, Miss Ester Helm, and Dick Reeves, all of Gulfport; L. H. Coker, of Long Beach; Liddell Caffery, David Wainwright, and Raymond Rev. of Pass Christian.

Sterberg explained to the group present that fifty per cent of the money collected goes to meet emergencies and towards research. In the past approximately eighty per cent of all polio cases were incurable, leaving the victims either totally or partially disabled. Today these figures are directly reversed with eighty per cent cured and only twenty per cent left disabled when the patient receives treatment in the first stages of polio.

Sterberg said, "The cost of treatments given to the patients in the hospitals is now three times as great as before the war. That cost is now an average of $12 per day per patient or an average of $500 per month.

Mississippi now boasts two hospitals devoted to the treatment of polio cases located at Vicksburg, Miss. — The Lutheran and the Mercy Hospitals. During the past year there were four polio cases reported and treated in Harrison county. Two of these patients were cured and dismissed and the other two still remain in the hospital under care. In the entire State of Mississippi last year there were 291 cases requiring treatment."

Harrison county has purchased an iron lung and this lung circulates through the state and the national region for emergency use. There will be a tri-state, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi, meeting on Monday, November 5, at the Robert E. Lee hotel to map out the campaign program and to further the success of this year's March of Dimes.

The members approved a motion that the club plant a living Christmas tree in the War Memorial Park and cuttings of Confederate jasmine were donated by members to be planted along the fence at the John M. Parker memorial ball park. It was also decided that the Pass Christian Garden Club sponsor a colored garden club in the city.

Calling All Women

All women of the Baptist, Episcopal and Methodist churches are asked to gather at the First Methodist church at 3 o'clock, Friday, November 3, to observe World Community Day of the United Council of Women.

The theme of this particular program is "Love Thy Neighbor." At heart of the possibility of peace, now or in any life, is the glowing command, the positive power for good which can overcome all evil. Jesus chose it, second only to love of God, as the core of the Law and the prophets. It is found in ancient Hebrew law (Leviticus 19:34) his way: "The stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt." The program will deal with trust-ship—"what is my responsibility toward my neighbor?"

Everyone is asked to keep the date and time in mind and be on hand to help with the program.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

Surprise your friends, your mother, sister and Aunt Mary with a table lamp for Christmas. You can make these from old coal-oil lamps, large bottles, vases, candlestick and blocks of wood.

Take an old coal-oil lamp 11 to 12 inches high and remodel it into a reading lamp. Hardware store sell oil lamp adapters. Buy one that fits your lamp. Screw this into the lamp bowl and you are nearly through.

Besides the adapter you will need a socket and cord assembly, lamp bulb, reflector bowl, shade and finial. After you assemble your lamp, you have an unusual Christmas gift for some lucky person or an attractive addition to your home.

If your old lamp is shorter than 14 inches high, plan to make a dressing table lamp from it.

Remember, you can use old bottles, vases, candlesticks and even blocks of wood to make lamps. One lady used gourds.

News from the Cheese Front
American made Swiss cheese is just as good as the imported variety. Before the last war about half of our Swiss cheese was imported, and many Americans felt that the imported cheese was far superior to the American Swiss. Our manufacturers have learned, however, to make a cheese equal in quality and flavor to the imported Swiss.

Swiss cheese is usually made in cakes weighing from 150 to 200 pounds. The cakes are usually two and one-half to three feet wide and six to nine inches thick. The holes in Swiss cheese should vary from the size of a nickel to the size of a half dollar. The holes are made naturally by the carbon dioxide that forms during the curing process.

The holes should be fairly regular in size and shape. Avoid Swiss cheese with small pin-point holes. They are a sign of poor quality and may indicate a bitter taste.

When buying Swiss cheese it is better to buy small quantities unless you have plenty of storage space. Once cut, Swiss dries rapidly.

ROCKS TIE WITH COLUMBIA 19 - 19

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws were forced to come from behind to eek out a 19 to 19 tie with the Columbia Wildcats Friday. The Rocks controlled the whole game with the exception of three scoring plays.

On the first play from scrimmage, Jerry Rooney, who was once again the offensive star, ran from the Rocks' 45 to the Columbia 10, only to have the Wildcats hold and then kick. Once again, after the Rocks got the ball, Gilbert Schmidt broke loose from his own 45 to the Columbia 22. One play netted two yards, and then Jerry Rooney ran off tackle for 21 yards, and the score, Rooney place kicked the extra point to make it 7 to 0.

The Stanislaus lead was short lived, as the Wildcats broke loose their halfback off tackle for 45 yards and a score. The extra point was blocked and the Rocks led 7 to 6, at the end of the first quarter.

Just after the second quarter got underway, Rooney again broke off left tackle and ran 35 yards for the second Stanislaus score. This time his try for conversion was blocked. Once again, the Rocks, 13 to 6 lead was short lived for on the following kickoff, the Columbia end picked up a short kick and ran 70 yards for the second Columbia score. The Wildcats failed to gain the extra point, and the half ended 13 to 12 in front for the Rocks.

The Rock-A-Chaw forward wall caught fire at the beginning of the second half and threw the Columbia offense back fifteen yards in three tries. On fourth down, the Wildcats kicked only to have the Rocks safety man, Roger Heitzmann, fumble, and the Wildcats took over on the Rock 40 yard line. The Wildcats started their only continuous offensive of the night, but it came at just the right moment. Running and passing, they marched down to the Rock five yard line.

Only to have the big Rock-A-Chaw line take the ball away and give Stanislaus possession. On the second play after taking over, Holmes, Rock quarterback, fumbled and the Wildcats recovered on the Rock two yard line. Two plays failed to score, bringing the ball to the Rock one inch line from here the Wildcats forged into the lead with a TD, scoring on a quarterback sneak. This time the extra point was good and the Wildcats led, for the first time 19 to 13.

Stanislaus bounced back with Rooney leading the offensive parade. Gilbert Schmidt intercepted a pass and ran it back to the Columbia 33; from here the

BAY ST LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1950

Army Recognizes Sgt. John Erwin's Talents— Now Painting and Decorating for Uncle Sam

It is a far cry from designing women's clothing in New York City to managing the Highway Drive-In Theatre in Bay St. Louis. Add to this a recall to active duty with the Fourteenth Air Force in Georgia, and you have the varied career of Master Sergeant John A. Erwin, a native of this city and son of Mrs. Florence L. Erwin, 112 Carroll Avenue.

Sergeant Erwin is now chief clerk in the Reserve Officers' Department section of Fourteenth Air Force Headquarters at Robins Air Force Base. He joined the Air Force Reserve only last August at Keesler Field, Miss. The following week he received a registered letter with an unmistakable message:

"By direction of the President, the below listed airman is relieved from Reserve assignment and ordered to extend active duty for a period of one year."

So ended the theater managing phase of Erwin's life. Anyway, his consuming interest is fashion designing, and he finds that the new Air Force in no way hinders pursuit of that unusual hobby.

Much of this enthusiasm for the haute couture may be explained by the fact that Sergeant Erwin is a bachelor. He never has to forego a new red and reel when his wife wears home or outside chapeau that is "just too, too divine—and simply a steal at only $98.98."

Following discharge from the Air Force at the end of World War II, style-conscious airman studied for two years at the Trap-hagen School of Fashion in New York. Before returning to Bay St. Louis, he designed professionally for a Gotham couturier. It is quite possible that the Fourteenth Air Force sergeant's creations have turned the head and opened the purse of many a Mississippi miss.

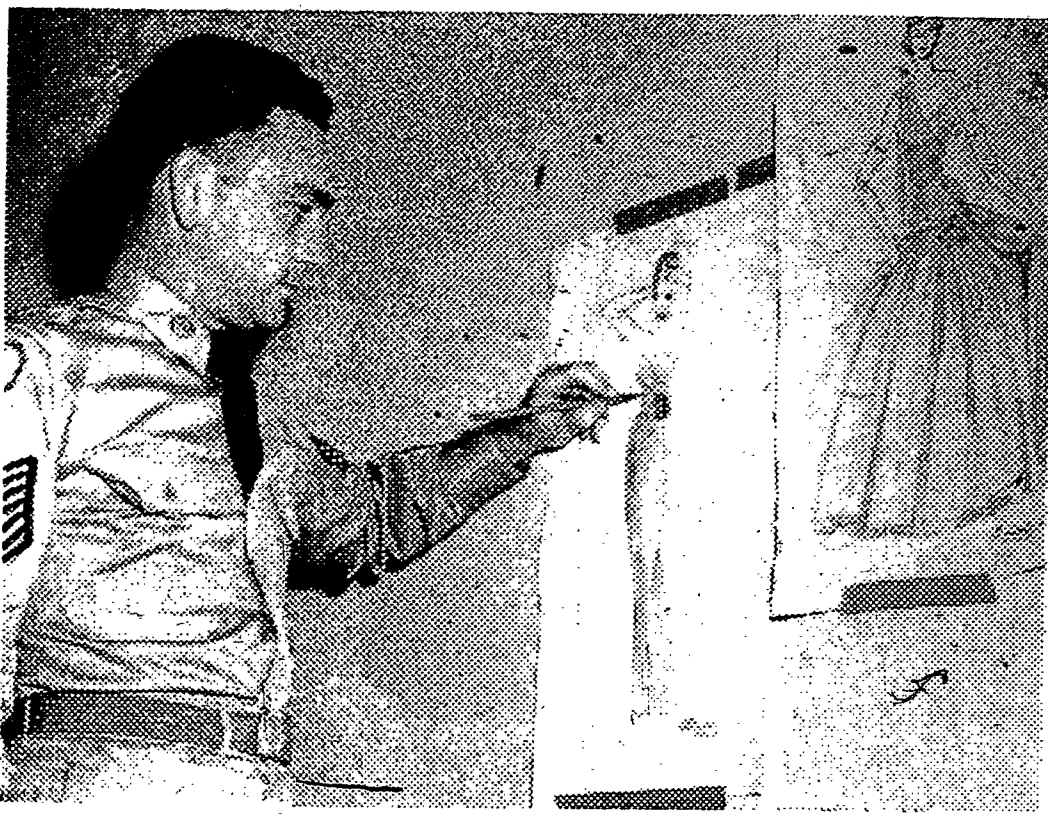

The artistic ability of this Bay St. Louis man runs the gamut from water color painting to interior decoration. Official recognition of such unique talent was not long in coming. Sergeant Erwin has been chosen to plan the decor of the new Fourteenth Air Force NCO Club. The GI designer has tentatively decided upon a tropical motif—replete with bamboo facings, verdant foliage, and exotic equatorial colors—in sharp contrast with the austere, undorned simplicity familiar to veterans who frequented World War II service clubs.

Recalling a furlough spent in Edinburgh, Scotland, Sergeant Erwin said "During the war I compared a few notes with Norman Hartnell, Royal Designer by Appointment to His Majesty, King George VI. Hartnell, along with Cecil Beaton, is among the greatest of the British fashion masters. He recently executed the wedding gown of Princess Elizabeth."

Most English designs, unfortunately, are all wool and a Yardley wide. French fashions are treacherous—no doubt about that. However, I am in agreement with our own designers that the Parisian flair for frivolity ill becomes the vivacious, sports-loving American girl. Her special femininity is enhanced by functional modes more appropriate to the American pace of living."

Erwin left England and his administrative duties with the Eighth Air Force to accompany the Ninth Air Force into France. There he realized the heart's desire of both the soldier and the fashion designer: to live for a while just six miles from Paris.

"Sure, I have the usual piquant memories of Montmartre, and Place Pigalle," Erwin said. "But I spent most of my off-duty time at the Louvre and other museums doing historical research on costumes and clothing. You know—mildly's gowns through the ages."

One startling discovery of this research was that the wearing of slacks by women is by no means a recent development. The beauties of ancient Persia wore a form of slacks, richly colored and brocaded, which would bring pandemonium to the bargain basement of any modern department store.

"It is interesting to note," continued Sergeant Erwin, "that through all the dynasties of ancient Egypt it was the men who were caught in the toils of changing fashion. After the husband had indulged his vanity, there was nothing for the Egyptian wife but a simple, standardized, chemise-like garment, exceedingly straight and narrow, reaching to the ankles and supported by two shoulder straps."

"Cleopatra came along and changed all that. Against Julius Caesar and Marc Anthony she used the same weapons that modern women rely on: mascaraed eyes, carmined lips with finger nails stained to match, and all manner of perfumes and scents. She calculated to make the sternest Roman as easy to lead as a well-trained dog. And two thousand years later the technique still gets results!"

The Iron Curtain is no barrier to the style-seeking woman of today, the sergeant pointed out. "Remember five or six years ago when the girls started tying up their hair in kerchief-like things called babushkas? Babushka is the Russian word for grandmother; it literally means 'dear little peasant woman.' For generations the peasant women of Russia have bound their heads in kerchiefs while working in the fields. Now both the practice and the word have been adopted as an American fashion."

Rapidly changing modes of dress may seem to be the exclusive concern of women, but to Sergeant Erwin's practiced eye even the new Air Force uniform reveals a story of interesting historical precedent.

"Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. That is what the well-dressed Fourteenth Air Force man will wear this winter. The antiquated buttons are old; the patch pockets and loose-fitting drape of the jacket are new; from the Royal Air Force comes the inverted chevrons. Well if upside-down color — of course, it is blue."

"Come to think of it, non-commissioned officers in the Confederate Army wore inverted chevrons, too. Well if upside-down stripes were good enough for the Confederates, they are okay with me."

Having studied milady's fashions from Cleopatra to Claudette Colbert, and from Moscow to Mississippi, Sergeant Erwin summed up briefly his conclusions about world beauty: "You just can't beat a Mississippi miss!"

Such is the fascinating hobby of one Fourteenth Air Force airman who has found that the defense of freedom leaves ample time for the enjoyment of freedom.

PROGRESS

ELEVEN YEARS AGO Mississippi's first commercial oil well was discovered in what was later named the Tinsley field of Yazoo county. Since then progress of the oil and gas industry has been steady and today there are over 1,650 producing wells in 41 fields.

THE MANY INDIVIDUALS and companies who search for and produce oil and gas have made a major contribution to Mississippi's climb up the economic ladder during the past eleven years. Employing over 4,000 men and women and paying state and local taxes of several million dollars yearly, the oil and gas industry is an important factor in the development of Mississippi.

PROGRESS of this industry has been accelerated by the favorable attitude of the people of Mississippi. Recognizing that an expanding oil and gas industry will play an even greater role in Mississippi's future, Mississippians have encouraged this new industry's growth by the enactment of laws favorable to its development.

THIS IS IMPORTANT to you as a citizen because what helps the sound development of our oil and gas resources helps Mississippi and all Mississippians.

Out front with the finest yet priced with the lowest

These days you can't tell from the price tag how much quality a car has. Ford, for example, is still priced with the lowest... yet in other respects it's in the fine class. Take its styling, for example, for two years in a row Ford has been the recognized fashion leader.

Like America's finest cars Ford offers you a V-8 engine. No other low-priced car does.
No other car offers you a choice of V-8 or Six engines. And remember, Ford's V-8 costs hundreds less than most sixes—Ford's Six costs even less.

So...why do this?

WHO, in his right mind, would build a trash fire against the wall of a house?

Lots of people do, before the houses are built.

They burn trash and debris near woods where the flames easily spread to woodlands. This is one of the first causes of forest fire, which destroys trees before they can serve mankind.

Be extra careful with fire in or near woods.
Trees are growing to provide us with lumber, paper, clothing, furniture and thousands of other things we need. Give them the protection they deserve.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Dust Or Spray For Grasshoppers

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Watch for grasshoppers which have been damaging oats in several parts of the state, and be ready to dust or spray to kill the pests if they appear.

For control by dusting, use 5 percent DDT at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds per acre. Or apply 20 percent toxaphene at 10 to 15 pounds per acre.

If spray is used, apply one-half gallon of a 25 percent DDT emulsion per acre, which is a pound of DDT per acre. Or use one quart of a six pound toxaphene emulsion, this being one and one-half pounds of toxaphene per acre.

For tractor spray equipment using a two-one hundredths inch nozzle, either material should be mixed with enough water to apply three gallons of diluted spray per acre.

Do not graze the crop for a week or longer after dusting or spraying.

The grasshopper appears as a striped, pale green to black caterpillar usually with a prominent upside down "Y" on the head. They are general feeders, stripping leaves from plants.

COTTON SEED SHORTAGE
A serious shortage of good cotton planting seed for the 1951 crops is expected throughout the Southern states. This is due to unusually bad harvesting conditions.

The Mississippi Seed Improvement Association has inspected around 100,000 acres of cotton this year for certification. Under present conditions, it appears that over half of the cotton seed produced in Mississippi, both certified and non-certified, will fall below 60 percent in germination, the Association reports.

FORESTRY WORK
The season when farm labor is available for profitable forestry work will soon be here. Plan to improve timber stands and market at the same time.

First look over the farm for signs of erosion and idle acres. If such areas are better suited for timber than other crops, seedlings should be planted.

Seedlings to be delivered early next year should be ordered with out delay through the county agent or local forester.

Consider thinning stands that are crowded; this condition is desirable in young stands to make the trees grow tall and have a clear trunk.

Stands with much merchantable timber should be thinned periodically following good cutting practices.

Trees to cut are mature trees which have stopped growing, diseased trees that might not live until the next cutting, crooked trees, trees of undesirable species and trees that are too crowded.
